Methodology

For the weekly show "The Talk of Paris" aired on December 7th 2007 on "France 24" channel and for the International Herald Tribune published on December 7th 2007, Harris Interactive sought the opinion of the citizens of 6 countries (5 European countries and the USA) about the 2008 US presidential elections, from November 1st to 14th 2007.

This poll was conducted online by Harris Interactive, in conjunction with France 24 and The International Herald Tribune, among a total of 6,590 adults (aged 16-64) within France, Germany, Great Britain, Spain, and the United States and adults (aged 18-64) in Italy between 1 and 14 November 2007. Figures for age, sex, education, region and Internet usage were weighted where necessary to bring them into line with their actual proportions in the population. Propensity score weighting was used to adjust for respondents' propensity to be online.

All sample surveys and polls, whether or not they use probability sampling, are subject to multiple sources of error which are most often not possible to quantify or estimate, including sampling error, coverage error, error associated with nonresponse, error associated with question wording and response options, and post-survey weighting and adjustments. Therefore, Harris Interactive avoids the words "margin of error" as they are misleading. All that can be calculated are different possible sampling errors with different probabilities for pure, unweighted, random samples with 100% response rates. These are only theoretical because no published polls come close to this ideal.

Respondents for this survey were selected from among those who have agreed to participate in Harris Interactive surveys. The data have been weighted to reflect the composition of the adult populations of the respective countries. Because the sample is based on those who agreed to participate in the Harris Interactive panel, no estimates of theoretical sampling error can be calculated.

Unweighted bases for the survey are: Total 6,590; France 1,075; Germany 1,114; Great Britain 1,117; Italy 1,100; Spain 1,076 and the USA 1,108.

Weighted bases for the survey are: Total 6,590; France 1,075; Germany 1,114; Great Britain 1,117; Italy 1,100; Spain 1,076 and the USA 1,108.

Sample Source: Harris Interactive relied on the Harris Poll OnlineSM panel as the primary sample source for this survey. This multimillion member online panel consists of potential respondents who have been recruited through online, telephone, mail, and in-person approaches to increase population coverage and enhance representativeness. All panel members have agreed to be invited to participate in online surveys through a confirmed opt-in approach.

Percentages may not add up to 100% due to rounding.

Please note that any communication of these results has to be made with technical elements such as: survey methodology, fieldwork dates, name of the agency, sample size.
